

Cynthia Walker

Running is her true passion in life! Through her running, she not only met the man of her dreams, now her husband and father of her daughter, but she also found friends and confidants.

She's run many races and had many adventures on the trails and the roads with the hundreds of miles she's put on her feet.

She loves to travel with her husband and daughter and spend Sunday afternoons cooking up some new extravagant meal for them to enjoy!

She is an avid horse back rider and is joyfully sharing that experience with her daughter who loves horses as well. She hopes that someday she'll get back into the ultra running world and complete another 50 miler, or more. Until then she try's to set the best example of a strong woman for her daughter in hopes that she too will become a strong and confident woman and follow her own dreams.
